

I am making this comment in support of the use of camharnesses and vests on school buses. We have several rural school districts who bus to a central location for us. The school districts have buses without any sort of restraint system in place. These camharnesses have been a lifesaver for us. Before we discovered them, several years ago, the children had been riding unrestrained. We did not feel that was a good option and went in search of a viable restraint for the children. We have been using the camharnesses and vests for several years without incident. Please allow the continued use of these restraints to facilitate the safe transportation of our children. Thank you.
